Acute pulmonary embolism – To lyse or not to lyse?

Moderator: Maddalena Lettino
Speakers: Stavros Konstantinides and Peter Verhamme
Date: March 30, 2017 from 18:00 to 19:00 CEST (Berlin time)

Register Online today:
www.pewebinar.com

Please register at least 48h before the live webinar. You need a valid My ESC account to join.
Content

Acute pulmonary embolism – When should we lyse?
Evaluation of risk stratification, current ESC guidelines for lysis in severe pulmonary embolism, contraindications for lysis and alternative treatment strategies
Stavros Konstantinides, Germany

Parenteral anticoagulant therapy in acute pulmonary embolism with and without thrombolysis
Discussion of the role of fondaparinux, unfractionated and low molecular weight heparin in patients with PE undergoing lysis therapy, parenteral anticoagulation in the hours and days following lysis, parenteral and oral anticoagulation in patients with severe PE not undergoing lysis therapy, special patient subgroups such as patients with active cancer and patients with HIT
Peter Verhamme, Belgium

This programme is supported by Aspen Pharma in the form of an unrestricted educational grant.